Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -9.88%.

In March, the fund underperformed versus both the MSCI World Index and its internal benchmark. Heading into the final month of the quarter, the fund's outperformance was substantial. However, the sharp risk repricing in March led to significant performance headwinds. The underperformance was triggered by the Iran conflict. The surge in Brent prices, together with rising yields and inflation expectations, prompted investors to take profits in year-to-date winners. Industrials and technology – the fund's two main sector overweights – were among the weakest sectors in March. Six of the top ten individual performance detractors in March versus the MSCI World were Asian technology-related holdings, for example SK hynix, Taiwan Semi and Organo. This was similar to performance headwinds versus the internal benchmark. Overall, in Q1, despite performance headwinds in March, the fund outperformed both the MSCI World and the internal benchmark.

Market development

Q1 was a weak quarter for asset returns, ending with a sharp momentum unwind in March. The sharp escalation of the Middle East conflict led to a significant surge in oil prices and prompted investors to rotate out of year-to-date winners, pushing fundamentals to the sidelines. In addition to geopolitical concerns, continued software disruption narrative further pressured software names. The LLM providers continued to release new AI tools and outline plans for expanding agent-based solutions across a wide range of workflows, increasingly challenging existing software business models. As the conflict unfolded, the sectors most affected in March were technology and semiconductors – the strongest performers earlier in the quarter – which became the weakest during the sell-off. Asian technology stocks, which had shown strong year-to-date outperformance, also corrected sharply.

Expectation of fund manager

Writing an outlook section in the current environment – with this level of volatility and a wide range of potential outcomes, both around the Iran conflict and its impact on the real economy – is a tricky task. It is unlikely that long-term success comes from trying to predict the next geopolitical event or technological turn. Instead, a higher degree of diversification, slightly lower position sizes, being ready to 'kill your darlings', and the ability to adapt are characteristics we believe successful investors need today. From our recent investor trip to Taiwan, where we met a broad range of Asian technology companies, a few takeaways stand out. First, despite ongoing concerns about peak demand, the hunger for compute shows no signs of slowing. Second, Western hyperscalers and consumer electronics companies continue to reduce their dependence on Chinese suppliers, allowing semiconductor companies in other parts of Asia to regain lost market share. Third, Western tech firms are increasingly moving toward multi-sourcing. This is opening the door for fast followers to enter attractive supply chains.

Top 10 largest positions

Among the more notable changes is the full exit from Dell, Halma and TE Connectivity. The first two were exited as their share prices performed strongly and reached, in our view, fair or even generous valuations. We decided to exit TE Connectivity and instead reallocate capital into Fit Hong Teng, an Asian fast follower whose power, signal and cooling components and systems are gaining share in AI servers. The fund also added a new position in Acter Group that provides design, engineering and construction services for clean rooms and currently has multi-year order visibility. Within the top ten holdings, Elite Material, Cencora and Synopsys entered the list, replacing SK hynix, Comfort Systems and Wesco.

ESG Important information

The sustainability information in this factsheet can help investors integrate sustainability considerations in their process. This information is for informational purposes only. The reported sustainability information may not at all be used in relation to binding elements for this fund. A decision to invest should take into account all characteristics or objectives of the fund as described in the prospectus. The prospectus is available on request and free of charge on the Robeco website.

Sustainability

The fund's sustainable investment objective is to finance solutions that support the transition from traditional production and consumption patterns toward a circular economy. Circular economy and sustainability considerations are incorporated in the investment process by the means of a target universe definition, exclusions, ESG integration, and voting. The fund only invests in companies that have a significant thematic fit as per Robeco's thematic universe methodology. Through screening on both Robeco's internally developed SDG Framework and Robeco's exclusion policy, the fund does not invest in issuers that have a negative impact on the SDGs, are in breach of international norms or where products have been deemed controversial. Financially material ESG factors are integrated in the bottom-up fundamental investment analysis to assess existing and potential ESG risks and opportunities. In addition, where a stock issuer is flagged for breaching international standards in the ongoing monitoring, the issuer will become subject to exclusion. Lastly, the fund makes use of shareholder rights and applies proxy voting in accordance with Robeco's proxy voting policy. For more information please visit the sustainability-related disclosures. The index used for all sustainability visuals is based on MSCI World Index TRN.

SDG Impact Alignment

This distribution across SDG scores shows the portfolio weight allocated to companies with a positive, negative and neutral impact alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) based on Robeco's SDG Framework. The framework utilizes a three-step approach to assess a company's impact alignment with the relevant SDGs and assign a total SDG score. The score ranges from positive to negative impact alignment with levels from high, medium or low impact alignment. This results in a 7-step scale from -3 to +3. For comparison, index figures are provided alongside that of the portfolio. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Use of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) logos, including the colour wheel, and icons shall only serve explanatory and illustrative purposes and may not be interpreted as an endorsement by the United Nations of this entity, or the product(s) or service(s) mentioned in this document. The opinions or interpretations shown in this document hence do not reflect the opinion or interpretations of the United Nations.

Environmental Footprint

Environmental footprint expresses the total resource consumption of the portfolio per mUSD invested. Each assessed company's footprint is calculated by normalizing resources consumed by the company's enterprise value including cash (EVIC). We aggregate these figures to portfolio level using a weighted average, multiplying each assessed portfolio constituent's footprint by its respective position weight. For comparison, index footprints are shown besides that of the portfolio. The equivalent factors that are used for comparison between the portfolio and index represent European averages and are based on third-party sources combined with own estimates. As such, the figures presented are intended for illustrative purposes and are purely an indication. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Engagement

Robeco distinguishes between three types of engagement. Value Engagement focuses on long-term issues that are financially material and/or are causing adverse sustainability impacts. The themes can be broken into Environmental, Social, Governance, or Voting-related. SDG Engagement aims to drive a clear and measurable improvement in a company's SDG contribution. Enhanced engagement is triggered by misconduct and focuses on companies severely breaching international standards. The report is based on all companies in the portfolio for which engagement activities have taken place during the past 12 months. Note that companies may be under engagement in multiple categories simultaneously. While the total portfolio exposure excludes double counting, it may not equal the sum of individual category exposures.
