Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -0.92%.
The AI investment narrative has shifted from a compute centric focus on GPUs to a memory centric one, as data access has become the key bottleneck. High Bandwidth Memory (HBM) is now the strongest performing AI subsector, with leading producers reporting sold-out capacity for all of 2026 and much of 2027. This has driven substantial earnings upgrades, most notably for Samsung Electronics, whose 2026 earnings expectations rose from roughly KRW 7,000 per share to over KRW 20,000, despite a 200% share price increase and a valuation of just 8x earnings. In contrast, the software sector has faced a prolonged 'AI uncertainty' sell-off. Fears around AI disrupting legacy business models, heavy capital expenditure, slowing cloud growth, and rising concentration risks have weighed on valuations, leading to sharp declines across major software and gaming names.

Portfolio changes

The portfolio was adjusted through several exits, reductions, and new investments. Exposure to consumer staples was reduced by selling Lindt & Sprüngli, as falling cocoa prices are expected to limit pricing power and slow revenue growth. The final position in Netflix was sold due to regulatory delays and debt concerns linked to its planned acquisition. Shopify was exited amid negative sentiment toward software and payments, and concerns that AI and agentic commerce could weaken its competitive moat. Positions in Microsoft and Meta were trimmed given uncertainty around heavy AI investment returns. New positions were initiated in Ulta Beauty, benefiting from strong market growth and a turnaround, and in logistics firm DSV, supported by its scale, integration track record, and recent acquisition.

Market development

In January 2026, the US economy remained resilient on the back of fiscal stimulus, even as persistent inflation and a cooling labor market prompted the Federal Reserve to pause easing. Inflation stayed above target, and heavy spending under the One Big Beautiful Bill Act supported growth but reinforced a K-shaped recovery, with higher income households continuing to spend while lower income consumers faced rising living and housing costs and weakening confidence. The appointment of Kevin Warsh as the next Fed chair strengthened the US dollar and briefly weighed on precious metals, though metals remained in focus due to central bank diversification and strong technology-related demand. Energy markets lagged amid oversupply concerns. Equity markets stayed positive but saw a sharp rotation away from technology and growth stocks toward real assets and defensive sectors, while financials underperformed amid policy uncertainty.

Expectation of fund manager

Given the uncertain macro and geopolitical climate, our quality growth style seems well suited for the current investment climate. We believe long-term investors should focus on high quality businesses with valuable intangible assets, high margins, and superior returns on capital. Companies with these traits have historically delivered above average returns while offering downside protection. These firms are also poised to deliver healthy revenue and earnings growth, and we expect them to generate attractive long-term returns as a result. We believe premium valuations for these businesses are justified given the quality of their business models, the high levels of earnings growth and the sustainability of their franchises.

ESG Important information

The sustainability information in this factsheet can help investors integrate sustainability considerations in their process. This information is for informational purposes only. The reported sustainability information may not at all be used in relation to binding elements for this fund. A decision to invest should take into account all characteristics or objectives of the fund as described in the prospectus. The prospectus is available on request and free of charge on the Robeco website.

Sustainability

The fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process through exclusions, ESG integration, engagement and voting. The fund does not invest in issuers that are in breach of international norms or where activities have been deemed detrimental to society following Robeco's exclusion policy. Financially material ESG factors are integrated in the bottom-up investment analysis to assess existing and potential ESG risks and opportunities. In the stock selection the fund limits exposure to elevated sustainability risks. The fund targets at least 20% lower carbon footprint compared to the reference index. In addition, where a stock issuer is flagged for breaching international standards in the ongoing monitoring, the issuer will become subject to engagement. Lastly, the fund makes use of shareholder rights and applies proxy voting in accordance with Robeco's proxy voting policy.

This is calculated by multiplying each portfolio component's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating by its respective portfolio weight. The Distribution across Sustainalytics ESG Risk levels chart shows the portfolio allocations broken into Sustainalytics' five ESG risk levels: negligible (0-10), low (10-20), medium (20-30), high (30-40) and severe (40+), providing an overview of portfolio exposure to the different ESG risk levels. Index scores are provided alongside the portfolio scores, highlighting the portfolio's ESG risk level compared to the index.

Environmental Footprint

Environmental footprint expresses the total resource consumption of the portfolio per mUSD invested. Each assessed company's footprint is calculated by normalizing resources consumed by the company's enterprise value including cash (EVIC). We aggregate these figures to portfolio level using a weighted average, multiplying each assessed portfolio constituent's footprint by its respective position weight. For comparison, index footprints are shown besides that of the portfolio. The equivalent factors that are used for comparison between the portfolio and index represent European averages and are based on third-party sources combined with own estimates. As such, the figures presented are intended for illustrative purposes and are purely an indication. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

SDG Impact Alignment

This distribution across SDG scores shows the portfolio weight allocated to companies with a positive, negative and neutral impact alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) based on Robeco's SDG Framework. The framework utilizes a three-step approach to assess a company's impact alignment with the relevant SDGs and assign a total SDG score. The score ranges from positive to negative impact alignment with levels from high, medium or low impact alignment. This results in a 7-step scale from -3 to +3. For comparison, index figures are provided alongside that of the portfolio. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Engagement

Robeco distinguishes between three types of engagement. Value Engagement focuses on long-term issues that are financially material and/or are causing adverse sustainability impacts. The themes can be broken into Environmental, Social, Governance, or Voting-related. SDG Engagement aims to drive a clear and measurable improvement in a company's SDG contribution. Enhanced engagement is triggered by misconduct and focuses on companies severely breaching internationals standards. The report is based on all companies in the portfolio for which engagement activities have taken place during the past 12 months. Note that companies may be under engagement in multiple categories simultaneously. While the total portfolio exposure excludes double counting, it may not equal the sum of individual category exposures.

	Portfolio exposure	# companies engaged with	# activities with companies engaged with
Total (* excluding double counting)	49.27%	21	68
Environmental	5.29%	4	12
Social	5.73%	2	4
Governance	6.01%	2	3
