Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -1.89%.

The fund had a solid outperformance versus the benchmark (MSCI EM) in April, with most of the contribution coming from stock selection. Country allocation made a small positive contribution. In country allocation, the main positive contributions came primarily from the overweight positions in Indonesia, Hungary and Greece. The underweight position in Saudi Arabia detracted the most from the relative performance. From a stock selection perspective, positive attribution came particularly from China, South Korea and Indonesia. In China, our stock selection in communication services (underweight Tencent), consumer discretionary (Gree and Haier Smart Home) and financials (Ping An, PICC) added positively to the relative performance. In South Korea, the selection in industrials (Doosan Bobcat), consumer discretionary (Hyundai Motor) and materials (LG Chem) outperformed the benchmark. In Indonesia, Bank Rakyat showed a nice performance. The selection in India and South Africa detracted the most from performance, although the impact was relatively small. In India, the selection in financials showed a disappointing return and in South Africa, Naspers underperformed the benchmark.

Market development

In April, emerging markets declined by 2.7% in euro terms, lagging the 0.1% return for developed markets. The best emerging countries were the Central European countries (Hungary, Poland and the Czech Republic), Indonesia and the UAE, while China, Turkey and Taiwan were the worst performing ones. China's economic recovery after the end of the Covid measures is happening, with Q1 GDP growth at 4.5%, and improving retail sales and export numbers. Yet the market was still down on some geopolitical concerns and high expectations at the start of the year. Turkey will have elections in May, which will be a close race between President Erdogan and opposition leader Kilicdaroglu. Inflation is gradually coming down across emerging markets, and interest rates have largely been kept stable in April.

Expectation of fund manager

The global environment is still challenging for equity markets, as inflation remains relatively high and global central banks have continued to raise interest rates. This has led to financial stress for some European and US banks, and global growth is likely to slow down. Emerging markets, however, seem relatively well positioned, as inflation is actually lower in many countries, they were earlier in hiking interest rates in this cycle and growth in China is picking up after the end of the zero-Covid policy. After last year's correction, market valuations have become more attractive, and in particular for emerging markets they are now at longer-term averages. In addition, emerging markets are attractively valued relative to developed markets with discounts of around 30% based on earnings multiples.

Top 10 largest positions

Our top ten positions comprise a combination of IT, consumer discretionary and financials with some exposure to communication services. Alibaba Group is the largest e-commerce company in China. The portfolio holds Housing Development Finance Corporation and ICICI Bank from India, Ping An Insurance Group and China Merchants Bank of China and Bank Rakyat Indonesia as the largest positions in financials. Naspers is the South African internet company, with a large equity stake in Tencent. Finally, Telkom Indonesia is the dominant telecommunications company in Indonesia.

Country allocation

Emerging markets in Asia in general, and South Korea, Indonesia and Vietnam in particular, are favored over those in emerging Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA). We are underweight in some smaller Asian markets, such as Malaysia, the Philippines and Thailand. We prefer domestic exposure in countries such as China and India over the export sectors. In Latin America, we are underweight in all countries except Brazil and Mexico. Among the EMEA countries, the fund holds overweight positions in Hungary, Poland, Greece and the UAE. It has no position in the Czech Republic, and underweight positions in South Africa and the Middle East.

Investment policy

Robeco Emerging Markets Equities is an actively managed fund that invests in stocks in emerging countries across the world. The selection of these stocks is based on fundamental analysis. The fund's objective is to achieve a better return than the index. The fund promotes E&S (i.e. Environmental and Social) characteristics within the meaning of Article 8 of the European Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation, integrates sustainability risks in the investment process and applies Robeco's Good Governance policy. The fund applies sustainability indicators, including but not limited to, normative, activity-based and region-based exclusions, proxy voting and engagement. Generally, emerging economies are growing faster than developed countries and can have stronger balance sheets for governments, companies and households. The fund selects investments based on top-down country analysis and bottom-up stock ideas. The focus is on companies with a sound business model, solid growth prospects and reasonable valuation. The majority of stocks selected will be components of the Benchmark, but stocks outside the Benchmark may be selected too. The fund can deviate substantially from the weightings of the Benchmark. The fund aims to outperform the Benchmark over the long run, whilst still controlling relative risk through the applications of limits (on countries and sectors) to the extent of deviation from the Benchmark. This will consequently limit the deviation of the performance relative to the Benchmark. The Benchmark is a broad market weighted index that is not consistent with the ESG characteristics promoted by the fund.
