Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -0.07%.

In April, the fund outperformed the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, with both country allocation and stock selection contributing positively. Key positive contributors were the underweight position in China, the overweight position in Hungary and positive stock selection results in China and South Korea. Within China, the positions in insurance company PICC P&C and gas distribution company Kunlun contributed positively. Chinese internet companies were down significantly. As a consequence, not having a position in Tencent, JD.com and Meituan contributed positively, but this was counterbalanced by the portfolio position in Alibaba. Within South Korea, the preferred shares of Hyundai Motor and LG Chem performed strongly, significantly exceeding the return for ordinary shares. The largest negative contributions in April came from the underweight position in India, no position in Saudi Arabia and stock selection in South Africa and Brazil. In South Africa, Naspers lagged the market, in line with the performance for its key holding in Tencent. In Brazil, retailer Sendas underperformed due to the higher interest rate and capex costs.

Market development

In April, emerging markets declined by 2.7% in euro terms, lagging the 0.1% return for developed markets. The best emerging countries were the Central European countries (Hungary, Poland and the Czech Republic), Indonesia and the UAE, while China, Turkey and Taiwan were the worst performing ones. China's economic recovery after the end of the Covid measures is happening, with Q1 GDP growth at 4.5%, and improving retail sales and export numbers. Yet the market was still down on some geopolitical concerns and high expectations at the start of the year. Turkey will have elections in May, which will be a close race between President Erdogan and opposition leader Kilicdaroglu. Inflation is gradually coming down across emerging markets, and interest rates have largely been kept stable in April.

Expectation of fund manager

The global environment is still challenging for equity markets, as inflation remains relatively high and global central banks have continued to raise interest rates. This has led to financial stress for some European and US banks, and global growth is likely to slow down. Emerging markets, however, seem relatively well positioned, as inflation is actually lower in many countries, they were earlier in hiking interest rates in this cycle and growth in China is picking up after the end of the zero-Covid policy. After last year's correction, market valuations have become more attractive. Emerging markets in particular are attractively valued relative to developed markets, with discounts of around 30% based on earnings multiples.

Top 10 largest positions

TSMC and Samsung Electronics are two globally leading technology companies that combine good growth prospects with attractive valuations. The valuation for Chinese e-commerce company Alibaba has become much more attractive, while it still has positive growth opportunities. Naspers is a South Africa-listed holding company for Tencent and several other internet companies across emerging markets, and is trading at a large discount to the underlying value. Several banks from various emerging countries also appear in the top ten. Here we see attractive valuations, structural growth opportunities, and shorter-term benefit from rising rates.

Sustainability

The fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process through exclusions, ESG integration, engagement and voting. The fund does not invest in issuers that are in breach of international norms or where activities have been deemed detrimental to society following Robeco's exclusion policy. Financially material ESG factors are integrated in the bottom-up investment analysis to assess existing and potential ESG risks and opportunities. In the stock selection the fund limits exposure to elevated sustainability risks. In addition, where a stock issuer is flagged for breaching international standards in the ongoing monitoring, the issuer will become subject to engagement. Lastly, the fund makes use of shareholder rights and applies proxy voting in accordance with Robeco's proxy voting policy.

Investment policy

Robeco Emerging Stars Equities is an actively managed fund that invests in emerging countries equities all over world. The selection of these shares is based on a fundamental analysis. The fund's objective is to achieve a better return than the index. The fund promotes E&S (i.e. Environmental and Social) characteristics within the meaning of Article 8 of the European Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation, integrates sustainability risks in the investment process and applies Robeco's Good Governance policy. The fund applies sustainability indicators, including but not limited to, normative, activity-based and region-based exclusions, and proxy voting. The fund selects investments based on a combination of top-down country analysis and bottom-up stock selection. We focus on companies that have both a healthy and solid business model growth prospects as a reasonable valuation. The fund has a focused, concentrated portfolio with a small number of larger bets. The majority of stocks selected will be components of the Benchmark, but stocks outside the Benchmark may be selected too. The fund can deviate substantially from the weightings of the Benchmark. The fund aims to outperform the Benchmark over the long run, whilst still controlling relative risk through the applications of limits (on VaR Ratio) to the extent of deviation from the Benchmark. This will consequently limit the deviation of the performance relative to the Benchmark. The Benchmark is a broad market weighted index that is not consistent with the ESG characteristics promoted by the fund.
