About the fund

Robeco QI Global Dynamic Duration is an actively managed fund that invests worldwide in government bonds with investment grade quality. The fund's objective is to provide long term capital growth. The fund uses derivatives to dynamically adjust the duration (interest-rate sensitivity) of the portfolio. The duration positioning is based on our proprietary duration model, which predicts the direction of the bond markets using financial market data. The ESG scores of countries are a integral part of our bottom-up country allocation decisions.

Key risks

- The value of shares is sensitive to market fluctuations, instrument prices, and changes in political, economic, or market conditions. This fund invests primarily in government bonds.
- The fund may use derivatives to achieve its investment objectives. These instruments can create leverage, increasing the fund's exposure to market fluctuations.
- A (derivative) counterparty may fail to fulfil its obligations. Counterparty risk is reduced by exchanging collateral.
- The fund is managed using quantitative models. Materialisation of the model risk may adversely affect fund performance.
- This fund promotes ESG characteristics, but does not have sustainable investing as its objective. Sustainability risks are integrated in the investment decisions and may impact returns.

Performance commentary

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was 0.39%.

The fund outperformed the index in May. The fund had underweight duration positions in the US, Germany and Japan throughout the month. The underweight duration positions in the US and Japan contributed positively to the performance, while the German position detracted. These active duration positions are based on the outcomes of our quantitative duration model. The duration positions that aim to exploit shorter-term market inefficiencies also contributed positively to the performance, while the active positions in the underlying portfolio contributed neutrally.

Market development

Yields rose globally in the first weeks of May as the Iran conflict dragged on. US 30-year yields reached 5.18%, the highest level since 2007; German and Japanese yields also set fresh highs. Bonds rallied in the second half of the month as oil prices declined on optimism about the ceasefire. US and Japanese yields remained higher than at the start of the month, while yields in the Eurozone, Australia, Canada and the UK declined, especially for shorter-dated bonds. Markets discounted less rate hikes this year for the ECB and the Bank of England, as growth data weakened. In the US, markets are now pricing some possibility of a hike. US growth remains resilient and inflation data surprised to the upside. US Treasuries returned 0%, Japanese government bonds -0.4% and German Bunds +0.8% (all returns hedged to EUR).

Expectation of fund manager

The fund's duration policy is driven by the outcomes of our proprietary quantitative duration model. At the end of May, the fund had underweight duration positions in the US, Germany and Japan. The negative model signals for bonds were driven by the economic growth, trend, low-risk, season and inflation variables. Rising equity markets, economic surprises and the US nowcast point to strong economic growth. Relatively weak performance of low-risk stocks points to limited demand for safe assets. Rising commodity prices signal higher inflation pressure. All of these point to higher yields, as does the trend of rising yields.

Sector allocation

The portfolio is invested in government bonds.

Duration allocation

At the end of May, the fund had underweight duration positions in the US, Germany and Japan. These active duration positions are based on the outcomes of our quantitative duration model. The underlying portfolio was tilted to British, Canadian, Japanese and Swedish bonds, while it was tilted away from Eurozone, US and Australian bonds. Intermediate maturities were favored in all markets except Australia. Twenty-year bonds were also favored in the UK and Japan, but not the longest-dated bonds. These positions result in a better average ESG score and lower carbon intensity for the portfolio compared to the index.

Rating allocation

The rating allocation follows from the rating allocation of the benchmark, the active duration positions and the tilts in the underlying portfolio. The bulk of the portfolio weight is in highly rated securities.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The value of your investments may fluctuate.

ESG Important information

The sustainability information in this factsheet can help investors integrate sustainability considerations in their process. This information is for informational purposes only. The reported sustainability information may not at all be used in relation to binding elements for this fund. A decision to invest should take into account all characteristics or objectives of the fund as described in the prospectus. The prospectus is available on request and free of charge on the Robeco website.

Reference

1. ESG Labeled Bonds

The visual displays the portfolio's exposure to ESG-labeled bonds. This is calculated as a sum of weights for those bonds in the portfolio that have one of above mentioned labels. Index exposure figures are provided alongside the portfolio exposure figures, highlighting the difference with the index.

2. Environmental Intensity

Environmental intensity expresses a portfolio's aggregate environmental efficiency. The portfolio's aggregate carbon intensity is based on the related country emissions. We divide each country's carbon emissions, measured in tCO₂, by the population size or gross domestic product to obtain the country's carbon intensity. The portfolio's aggregate intensity figures are calculated as a weighted average by multiplying each assessed portfolio component's intensity figure with its respective position weight. Only holdings mapped as sovereign bonds are included in the figures.

3. Country Sustainability Ranking

The visual displays the portfolio's scores following Robeco's Country Sustainability Ranking methodology. These are calculated using the portfolio components' weights and respective country's scores. The scores includes considerations of more than 50 separate indicators, each capturing a unique sustainability feature across environmental, social and governance dimensions at the country level. Only holdings mapped as sovereign bonds are included in the figures.

Risk management

Risk management systems continuously monitor the extent to which the portfolio differs from the benchmark. Extreme discrepancies are prevented in this way. The duration model makes use of futures, which can lead to leverage.

Fiscal product treatment

The fund is established in Luxembourg and is subject to the Luxembourg tax laws and regulations. The fund is not liable to pay any corporation, income, dividend or capital gains tax in Luxembourg. The fund is subject to an annual subscription tax ('tax d'abonnement') in Luxembourg, which amounts to 0.05% of the net asset value of the fund. This tax is included in the net asset value of the fund. The fund can in principle use the Luxembourg treaty network to partially recover any withholding tax on its income.

Fiscal treatment of investor

The fiscal consequences of investing in this fund depend on the investor's personal situation. For private investors in the Netherlands real interest and dividend income or capital gains received on their investments are not relevant for tax purposes. Each year investors pay income tax on the value of their net assets as at 1 January if and inasmuch as such net assets exceed the investor's tax-free allowance. Any amount invested in the fund forms part of the investor's net assets. Private investors who are resident outside the Netherlands will not be taxed in the Netherlands on their investments in the fund. However, such investors may be taxed in their country of residence on any income from an investment in this fund based on the applicable national fiscal laws. Other fiscal rules apply to legal entities or professional investors. We advise investors to consult their financial or tax adviser about the tax consequences of an investment in this fund in their specific circumstances before deciding to invest in the fund.

Dividend policy

All income earned will be accumulated and will in principle not be distributed as dividend. Therefore the entire result is reflected in the share price development.
