Key risks

- The value of shares is sensitive to market fluctuations, instrument prices, and changes in political, economic, or market conditions. Balanced funds combine different asset classes resulting in lower volatility than pure equity funds but higher than pure fixed income funds.
- The fund may use derivatives to achieve its investment objectives. These instruments can create leverage, increasing the fund's exposure to market fluctuations.
- A (derivative) counterparty may fail to fulfil its obligations. Counterparty risk is reduced by exchanging collateral.
- The fund invests in assets that could become less liquid in certain market conditions, which may affect their value.
- This fund promotes ESG characteristics, but does not have sustainable investing as its objective. Sustainability risks are integrated in the investment decisions and may impact returns.

Performance commentary

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was 2.07%.

The Sustainable Income Allocation Fund returned +2.1% over the month, in line with the benchmark. In the latter part of the period, the portfolio was repositioned toward a modest equity overweight, reflecting improving sentiment. The overweight to emerging market equities contributed, benefiting from the relief rally, supported by a strong payoff from the long leg of our equity index options. The decision to hedge oil volatility through long Norwegian Krone positions added value. From a fundamental perspective, stock selection was a key driver. Alphabet, Siemens Energy, and Vertiv were top contributors, supported by earnings and AI-related demand. On the downside, Cheniere Energy, AstraZeneca, and Thermo Fisher detracted, reflecting weaker sentiment and cautious outlooks. The defensive, minimum-volatility segment lagged in the risk-on environment. In credit, performance was supported by issuer selection. The overweight to euro-denominated bonds proved beneficial amid the region's rebound. Sector allocation contributed positively, with an underweight in technology supporting returns. The overweight in BB-rated securities was also a contributor.

Market development

Equities rebounded strongly in April, with the S&P 500 rising 10.4% and the Nasdaq 15.7%, both reaching record levels. However, the recovery was narrow, driven largely by technology and AI-related stocks, while defensives, healthcare and most non-US markets lagged. Geopolitics remained a key driver. The Iran ceasefire reduced immediate risks but left a fragile stalemate, with Brent crude still elevated around USD 114, weighing on energy-importing economies. Earnings have been robust, particularly in the US where Q1 EPS growth is tracking around 31% year-on-year, though heavily concentrated in a few sectors. Europe delivered more modest growth, while Japan sits in between. Central banks are no longer discussing rate cuts. The Fed, ECB and BoE held rates but signaled caution, while the BoJ is gradually shifting toward tightening. Bonds offered limited diversification, with yields remaining elevated and correlations with equities still positive. Credit spreads remain tight. The dollar showed some defensive characteristics, supported by ongoing capital inflows despite longer-term structural pressures.

Expectation of fund manager

The outlook is highly dependent on the evolution of the Iran-US situation, which has reshaped market dynamics around two key factors: AI exposure and energy independence. The US stands out on both fronts, while Europe and energy-importing Asia face ongoing structural headwinds unless oil prices decline materially. Our base case assumes the ceasefire holds, shipping disruptions ease, and Brent falls toward USD 90 by year-end. Even then, inflation is likely to remain elevated into 2027 due to delayed passthrough effects. A more adverse scenario would see oil stay above USD 100, delaying rate cuts and further widening performance gaps. Central banks are currently focused on inflation but are likely to shift toward growth concerns over time. We expect the Fed, ECB and BoE to remain on hold, with only a small chance of further ECB tightening. We are modestly overweight in equities, favoring the US and emerging markets, and underweight in Europe and Japan. We remain cautious on duration, but see value emerging selectively in European bonds, while maintaining exposure to commodities and related currencies.

Reference

1. SDG Impact Alignment

This distribution across SDG scores shows the portfolio weight allocated to companies with a positive, negative and neutral impact alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) based on Robeco's SDG Framework. The framework utilizes a three-step approach to assess a company's impact alignment with the relevant SDGs and assign a total SDG score. The score ranges from positive to negative impact alignment with levels from high, medium or low impact alignment. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

2. Environmental Footprint

Environmental footprint expresses the total resource consumption of the portfolio per mUSD invested. Each assessed company's footprint is calculated by normalizing resources consumed by the company's enterprise value including cash (EVIC). We aggregate these figures to portfolio level using a weighted average, multiplying each assessed portfolio constituent's footprint by its respective position weight. The equivalent factors that are used for comparison between the portfolio and index (where applicable) represent European averages and are based on third-party sources combined with own estimates. As such, the figures presented are intended for illustrative purposes and are purely an indication. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

3. Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating

The chart displays the portfolio's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating. This is calculated by multiplying each portfolio component's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating by its respective portfolio weight. The distribution across Sustainalytics ESG Risk levels chart shows the portfolio allocations broken into Sustainalytics' five ESG risk levels: negligible (0-10), low (10-20), medium (20-30), high (30-40) and severe (40+), providing an overview of portfolio exposure to the different ESG risk levels.

Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

4. Environmental Intensity

Environmental intensity expresses a portfolio's aggregate environmental efficiency. The portfolio's aggregate carbon intensity is based on the related country emissions. We divide each country's carbon emissions, measured in tCO<sub>2</sub>, by the population size or gross domestic product to obtain the country's carbon intensity. The portfolio's aggregate intensity figures are calculated as a weighted average by multiplying each assessed portfolio component's intensity figure with its respective position weight. Only holdings mapped as sovereign bonds are included in the figures.

5. Exclusions

The charts display the degree of adherence to exclusion applied by Robeco. Thresholds are based on revenues unless otherwise indicated. For more information about the exclusion policy and which level applies, please refer to the Exclusion Policy and Exclusion List available on Robeco.com.

Source: Robeco. We use several data input sources such as Sustainalytics, RSPO (Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil), World Bank, Freedom House, Fund for Peace and International Sanctions. Policy document available: Exclusion Policy

6. ESG Labeled Bonds

The visual displays the portfolio's exposure to ESG-labeled bonds. This is calculated as a sum of weights for those bonds in the portfolio that have one of above mentioned labels. Index exposure figures are provided alongside the portfolio exposure figures, highlighting the difference with the index.

7. Country Sustainability Ranking

The visual displays the portfolio's scores following Robeco's Country Sustainability Ranking methodology. These are calculated using the portfolio components' weights and respective country's scores. The scores includes considerations of more than 50 separate indicators, each capturing a unique sustainability feature across environmental, social and governance dimensions at the country level. Only holdings mapped as sovereign bonds are included in the figures.

8. Engagement

Robeco distinguishes between three types of engagement. Value Engagement focuses on long-term issues that are financially material and/or are causing adverse sustainability impacts. The themes can be broken into Environmental, Social, Governance, or Voting-related. SDG Engagement aims to drive a clear and measurable improvement in a company's SDG contribution. Enhanced engagement is triggered by misconduct and focuses on companies severely breaching international standards. The report is based on all companies in the portfolio for which engagement activities have taken place during the past 12 months. Note that companies may be under engagement in multiple categories simultaneously. While the total portfolio exposure excludes double counting, it may not equal the sum of individual category exposures.
