Performance

Indexed value (until 31-12-2025) - Source: Robeco

Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -2.16%.

In December, our strategy had a negative absolute return, also trailing the benchmark (-2.1% versus -0.2%, respectively). Sector-wise, the main positive contributors were consumer staples and real estate, whereas financials, technology and industrials lagged. In terms of stock selection, BNP Paribas contributed best. After a weak period, momentum seems to be turning more positive as management's revamped strategy to improve returns and simplify the business was well-received by investors. Siemens Energy also continued its ascent, supported by a strong order book that materially lifts its growth, margin and cash flow prospects. On the flip side, Celestica detracted from performance, despite a very strong earnings set and ditto outlook. Stock weakness was, therefore, more related to broader market concerns around AI financing. AutoZone detracted from performance too, as results disappointed. Finally, clean energy capital provider Hannon Armstrong also gave back some of its year-to-date gains, even though there were no company specific news flows related to this.

Expectation of fund manager

The quality overlay in our climate transition strategy struggled throughout the year, but overall performance was aided by the strong rebound in climate-related stocks, resulting in a slight net gain overall. Looking back, 2025 has been choppy, though. Policy changes first acted as a negative overhang, but turned positive as a clearer baseline emerged on the basis of which the clean tech space finally traded up. Developments in the power industry globally, driven by AI, require power generation of all kinds, with many renewables being fastest and cheapest to deploy. A shift away from market narrowness to broadening can likely only hold if capital spending broadens out too, beyond AI alone, as provisions from the OBBA Act will start to kick in and provide a boon to the wider US economy. As we enter 2026, the new year will bring volatility and reality checks that will test market narratives. We do think the climate universe remains well on track to continue its upward trajectory, given solid fundamentals and less policy noise. The general setup for quality should improve from here as well, especially as investors are growing more worried about 'peak-of-cycle' market behavior.

Top 10 largest positions

Our number one active position is Alphabet, as we believe that with its leading positions in search, cloud and the investments into its AI platform, it has a long runway for growth with attractive returns. First Solar is our second-largest weight and is the largest US domestic solar panel manufacturer, focusing exclusively on utility-scale solar. Given its domestic US focus and having no reliance on Chinese supply chains, First Solar can continue to grow significantly in US utility-scale solar. The company is sold out well into 2028 with very favorable contract pricing, which cushions it from any major headwinds. German industrial company Siemens Energy rounds off our top-three active positions and is a metaphorical Swiss army knife when it comes to energy solutions, including gas turbines, grid networks and wind turbines.

ESG Important information

The sustainability information in this factsheet can help investors integrate sustainability considerations in their process. This information is for informational purposes only. The reported sustainability information may not at all be used in relation to binding elements for this fund. A decision to invest should take into account all characteristics or objectives of the fund as described in the prospectus. The prospectus is available on request and free of charge on the Robeco website.

Sustainability

The fund aims to invest at least 80% of its assets in companies that are making or enabling the climate transition in line with the Paris agreement. Furthermore, the fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process through exclusions, ESG integration, engagement, and voting. Financially material ESG factors are integrated in the bottom-up investment analysis to assess existing and potential ESG risks and opportunities. The fund limits exposure to issuers OR companies with an elevated sustainability risk profile to 5%. Elevated sustainability risk is defined by Robeco as companies with an ESG Risk Rating of 40 and higher. In addition, where a stock issuer is flagged for breaching international standards in the ongoing monitoring, the issuer will become subject to engagement.

For more information, please visit the sustainability-related disclosures.

SDG Impact Alignment

This distribution across SDG scores shows the portfolio weight allocated to companies with a positive, negative and neutral impact alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) based on Robeco's SDG Framework. The framework utilizes a three-step approach to assess a company's impact alignment with the relevant SDGs and assign a total SDG score. The score ranges from positive to negative impact alignment with levels from high, medium or low impact alignment. This results in a 7-step scale from -3 to +3. For comparison, index figures are provided alongside that of the portfolio. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Use of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) logos, including the colour wheel, and icons shall only serve explanatory and illustrative purposes and may not be interpreted as an endorsement by the United Nations of this entity, or the product(s) or service(s) mentioned in this document. The opinions or interpretations shown in this document hence do not reflect the opinion or interpretations of the United Nations.

Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating

The Portfolio Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating chart displays the portfolio's ESG Risk Rating. This is calculated by multiplying each portfolio component's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating by its respective portfolio weight. The Distribution across Sustainalytics ESG Risk levels chart shows the portfolio allocations broken into Sustainalytics' five ESG risk levels: negligible (0-10), low (10-20), medium (20-30), high (30-40) and severe (40+), providing an overview of portfolio exposure to the different ESG risk levels. Index scores are provided alongside the portfolio scores, highlighting the portfolio's ESG risk level compared to the index. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Environmental Footprint

Environmental footprint expresses the total resource consumption of the portfolio per mUSD invested. Each assessed company's footprint is calculated by normalizing resources consumed by the company's enterprise value including cash (EVIC). We aggregate these figures to portfolio level using a weighted average, multiplying each assessed portfolio constituent's footprint by its respective position weight. For comparison, index footprints are shown besides that of the portfolio. The equivalent factors that are used for comparison between the portfolio and index represent European averages and are based on third-party sources combined with own estimates. As such, the figures presented are intended for illustrative purposes and are purely an indication. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Engagement

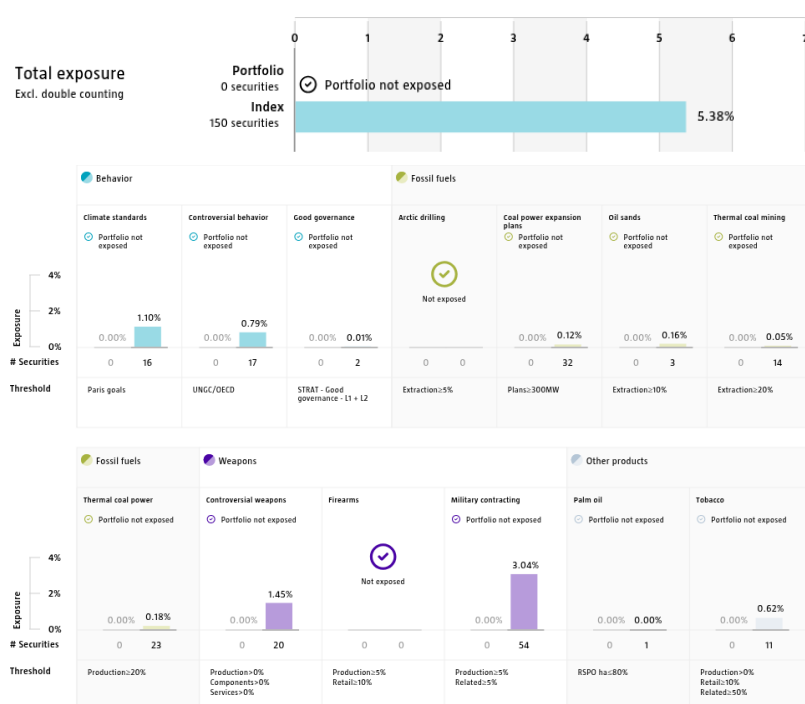

Robeco distinguishes between three types of engagement. Value Engagement focuses on long-term issues that are financially material and/or are causing adverse sustainability impacts. The themes can be broken into Environmental, Social, Governance, or Voting-related. SDG Engagement aims to drive a clear and measurable improvement in a company's SDG contribution. Enhanced engagement is triggered by misconduct and focuses on companies severely breaching international standards. The report is based on all companies in the portfolio for which engagement activities have taken place during the past 12 months. Note that companies may be under engagement in multiple categories simultaneously. While the total portfolio exposure excludes double counting, it may not equal the sum of individual category exposures.

	Portfolio exposure	# companies engaged with	# activities with companies engaged with
Total (* excluding double counting)	47.89%	21	95
Environmental	13.06%	6	19
