Performance

Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -2.84%.

In March, our strategy had a negative absolute return, yet firmly ahead of the benchmark (-3.5% versus -4.9%, respectively). Sector-wise, the main positive contributors were energy, materials and technology, whereas utilities lagged. Finnish advance bio-refiner Neste Oyj contributed most to performance as investors leaned into the company's leading positioning in renewable fuels and sustainable aviation fuel. Chinese battery power play CATL also performed strongly in March, after its full-year 2025 results beat profit and revenue expectations, despite cooling EV demand and higher lithium prices. Finally, Cheniere Energy also continued its ascent. As the largest US LNG exporter, Cheniere is well-positioned to benefit from higher gas prices and the redirection of global purchasing toward US shores. On the flip side, Komatsu detracted meaningfully across global portfolios, as it fell victim to the overall risk-off trade. Siemens Energy detracted in March as well, despite a strong start to 2026. The stock pulled back from its February highs, given its exposure to Middle East disruption.

Expectation of fund manager

Climate transition buckets remain volatile from time to time, but the tone in recent months is less about capitulation, more on rotation. Looking ahead, the next months will likely feel like a street fight between macro headwinds and slow burning, bottom-up improvement in the climate transition complex. Depending on where inflation will settle, the direction of travel still favors cash generative, inflation linked assets over long duration 'stories'. In practical terms, that means better relative performance from integrated utilities, grid and transmission developers, storage platform plays, and select OEMs with solid backlogs, versus early stage hydrogen, carbon removal and subsidy-heavy business models. Globally, energy security is back as the political framing, which typically steers money toward domestic renewables, networks and firming capacity – even in markets where rhetoric from the Trump administration is more fossil friendly on the surface.

Top 10 largest positions

Our number one active position is CATL, a large Chinese battery maker. CATL is a highly innovative company seeing multiple growth drivers such as long duration industrial battery storage, truck electrification and larger battery capacities across passenger vehicles. Earnings growth seems underestimated given the relatively low valuation multiple CATL trades on. Siemens Energy is our second-largest active weight and is a metaphorical Swiss army knife when it comes to energy solutions including gas turbines, grid networks and wind turbines. Its order book has grown materially across all divisions, leading to a much better sustainable-growth and return profile. Cheniere Energy rounds off our top three of active weights, a pure-play US LNG exporter mainly catering clients in emerging markets that switch off from coal to gas as an intermediary step toward renewables. Cheniere benefits from higher spot pricing, though its book of business is largely long-term fixed-fee based, resulting in strong and durable cash flows.

ESG Important information

The sustainability information in this factsheet can help investors integrate sustainability considerations in their process. This information is for informational purposes only. The reported sustainability information may not at all be used in relation to binding elements for this fund. A decision to invest should take into account all characteristics or objectives of the fund as described in the prospectus. The prospectus is available on request and free of charge on the Robeco website.

Sustainability

The fund aims to invest at least 80% of its assets in companies that are making or enabling the climate transition in line with the Paris agreement. Furthermore, the fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process through exclusions, ESG integration, engagement, and voting. Financially material ESG factors are integrated in the bottom-up investment analysis to assess existing and potential ESG risks and opportunities. The fund limits exposure to issuers OR companies with an elevated sustainability risk profile to 5%. Elevated sustainability risk is defined by Robeco as companies with an ESG Risk Rating of 40 and higher. In addition, where a stock issuer is flagged for breaching international standards in the ongoing monitoring, the issuer will become subject to engagement.

For more information, please visit the sustainability-related disclosures.

SDG Impact Alignment

This distribution across SDG scores shows the portfolio weight allocated to companies with a positive, negative and neutral impact alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) based on Robeco's SDG Framework. The framework utilizes a three-step approach to assess a company's impact alignment with the relevant SDGs and assign a total SDG score. The score ranges from positive to negative impact alignment with levels from high, medium or low impact alignment. This results in a 7-step scale from -3 to +3. For comparison, index figures are provided alongside that of the portfolio. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Use of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) logos, including the colour wheel, and icons shall only serve explanatory and illustrative purposes and may not be interpreted as an endorsement by the United Nations of this entity, or the product(s) or service(s) mentioned in this document. The opinions or interpretations shown in this document hence do not reflect the opinion or interpretations of the United Nations.

Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating

The Portfolio Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating chart displays the portfolio's ESG Risk Rating. This is calculated by multiplying each portfolio component's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating by its respective portfolio weight. The Distribution across Sustainalytics ESG Risk levels chart shows the portfolio allocations broken into Sustainalytics' five ESG risk levels: negligible (0-10), low (10-20), medium (20-30), high (30-40) and severe (40+), providing an overview of portfolio exposure to the different ESG risk levels. Index scores are provided alongside the portfolio scores, highlighting the portfolio's ESG risk level compared to the index. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Environmental Footprint

Environmental footprint expresses the total resource consumption of the portfolio per mUSD invested. Each assessed company's footprint is calculated by normalizing resources consumed by the company's enterprise value including cash (EVIC). We aggregate these figures to portfolio level using a weighted average, multiplying each assessed portfolio constituent's footprint by its respective position weight. For comparison, index footprints are shown besides that of the portfolio. The equivalent factors that are used for comparison between the portfolio and index represent European averages and are based on third-party sources combined with own estimates. As such, the figures presented are intended for illustrative purposes and are purely an indication. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

Engagement

Robeco distinguishes between three types of engagement. Value Engagement focuses on long-term issues that are financially material and/or are causing adverse sustainability impacts. The themes can be broken into Environmental, Social, Governance, or Voting-related. SDG Engagement aims to drive a clear and measurable improvement in a company's SDG contribution. Enhanced engagement is triggered by misconduct and focuses on companies severely breaching international standards. The report is based on all companies in the portfolio for which engagement activities have taken place during the past 12 months. Note that companies may be under engagement in multiple categories simultaneously. While the total portfolio exposure excludes double counting, it may not equal the sum of individual category exposures.

	Portfolio exposure	# companies engaged with	# activities with companies engaged with

Environmental	13.32%	6	20
Social	11.43%	4	4
