Key risks

- The value of shares is sensitive to market fluctuations, instrument prices, and changes in political, economic, or market conditions. Equity theme funds have a view on a specific segment of the equity market. By making the choice to focus on a specific segment the fund becomes more volatile as price movements of shares within this theme tend to have a larger impact on the value of the fund.
- The fund may use financial derivatives.
- A (derivative) counterparty may fail to fulfil its obligations. Counterparty risk is reduced by exchanging collateral.
- The fund invests in assets that could become less liquid in certain market conditions, which may affect their value.
- This fund promotes ESG characteristics, but does not have sustainable investing as its objective. Sustainability risks are integrated in the investment decisions and may impact returns.

Performance commentary

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -0.93%.

Global listed real estate slipped modestly in May, lagging the strong rally in general equities as still-elevated bond yields weighed on the sector. The fund delivered a small negative absolute return and trailed the benchmark. Relative performance was supported by the strong performance of life-science healthcare names, with Healthpeak Properties surging after raising earnings guidance and Alexandria Real Estate rallying sharply as sentiment turned. The major culprit of the underperformance were the Hong Kong-based Real Estate Operating Companies in the Sustainable Cities trend segment. Swire Properties, Hang Lung Properties and Hysan Development underperformed, as the hawkish turn in interest rate expectations in the US and an uncertain outlook for the Chinese economy led to profit-taking in those developers. At the single-stock level, the largest detractors were CBRE Group, which fell on renewed AI-disruption fears and Sumitomo Realty & Development, with Mitsubishi Estate and Mitsui Fudosan Accommodations Fund adding to the Japan drag, amid the Japanese rate-driven unwind.

Portfolio changes

In May, we participated in the IPO of Blackstone Digital Infrastructure Trust, a data center REIT that aims to build a diversified portfolio of stabilized, income-generating assets leased to investment grade hyperscale tenants under long-term contracts in Tier-1 US markets. The long-term outlook is constructive, supported by structural tailwinds from AI, cloud computing and digitalization that drive sustained demand amid supply constraints. We sold the entire Kimco position, redeploying proceeds in our other two US shopping center holdings, Federal Realty and Kite Realty Group, and adding to our US multi-family names AvalonBay and Essex. Having reduced our Japanese developer exposure earlier in the year, we exited the remaining position in Tokyu Fudosan as the Japanese 10-year bond yield climbed to a multi-decade high. We added to Unibail-Rodamco-Westfield, where the new management team continues to make progress, funded by the sale of Hufvudstaden, where we see few near-term catalysts.

Market development

General equities, with semiconductors leading, reached fresh records on AI optimism, while progress toward a US-Iran deal and lower oil prices allowed bond yields to retrace from mid-month highs. Those yields nonetheless remained uncomfortably high, with the US 10-year Treasury ending the month seven basis points higher and the Japanese 10-year bond yield reaching a fresh multi-decade high. Listed real estate lagged the broader equity rally, with the rate-sensitive Japanese developers the clearest laggards. Central bank signals turned more hawkish, with markets now pricing in that next moves could be hikes, and US mortgage rates went up again, a headwind for the residential and self-storage recovery. Credit markets stayed firmly risk-on, with REIT and corporate spreads tightening. The first-quarter reporting season confirmed supportive fundamentals, as the large majority of US REITs beat consensus and raised full-year guidance midpoints.

Expectation of fund manager

The first quarter of 2026 was a reminder of how quickly geopolitical developments can reshape the investment landscape, yet markets have since recovered sharply. Despite this volatility, the fundamental investment case for listed real estate remains compelling. Commercial real estate fundamentals are supportive. Labor markets remain tight, even as employment growth moderates, and historically employment has been a key driver of demand for real estate space. On the supply side, new development continues to be constrained by elevated construction costs, keeping additions close to historic averages as a share of existing stock. The financing environment did not deteriorate in May: although sovereign yields again made new multi-year highs, REIT credit spreads tightened and capital markets remained wide open. Historically, listed real estate has underperformed during periods of rising long-term yields, but has tended to recover once rates stabilize. Ownership of property assets offers an attractive income stream and the opportunity to benefit from land value appreciation.

Top 10 largest holdings

Several names in the top ten are beneficiaries of changes in technology and people's lifestyle. Prologis and Equinix are part of the PropTech segment of real estate companies that benefit from technological changes. Equinix is the largest listed interconnected data center REIT, benefiting from an increased spending in AI-related infrastructure, which is expected to more than double by FY2029. Companies such as AvalonBay Communities and Welltower are beneficiaries of changes in people's lifestyle. Many countries face a housing shortage, and it is often more affordable to rent smaller apartments than to buy a house. Welltower is the largest US healthcare REIT that operates senior housing assets including independent living, assisted living and memory care facilities. Construction levels for senior housing have declined while demand has accelerated after Covid-19. The US self-storage REIT Extra Space Storage is also a beneficiary of changes in people's lifestyle, as the sector's operating fundamentals are linked to housing mobility.

Sector allocation

The fund managers prefer real estate companies with solid income-producing portfolios and financial profiles. The fund is overweight in data center REITs and residential REITs, both multi-family residential REITs and single-family residential REITs. Within specialized REITs, the fund has a relatively large weight in telecom tower REITs and self-storage REITs. The main underweights are diversified REITs, hotel & resort REITs, triple-net REITs and retail REITs. The three key trend portfolios are: PropTech, Sustainable Cities and Lifestyle. These three trends represent 34%, 35% and 31%, respectively, of the fund.

Regional allocation

The fund's regional allocation is close to its benchmark.

Currency allocation

The fund manager implements an active currency hedging policy, which means that the deviations from the index weightings tend to be small. For some emerging market currencies, such as the Brazilian real, hedging is relatively expensive and therefore not undertaken.

Reference

1. SDG Impact Alignment

This distribution across SDG scores shows the portfolio weight allocated to companies with a positive, negative and neutral impact alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) based on Robeco's SDG Framework. The framework utilizes a three-step approach to assess a company's impact alignment with the relevant SDGs and assign a total SDG score. The score ranges from positive to negative impact alignment with levels from high, medium or low impact alignment. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

2. Environmental Footprint

Environmental footprint expresses the total resource consumption of the portfolio per mUSD invested. Each assessed company's footprint is calculated by normalizing resources consumed by the company's enterprise value including cash (EVIC). We aggregate these figures to portfolio level using a weighted average, multiplying each assessed portfolio constituent's footprint by its respective position weight. The equivalent factors that are used for comparison between the portfolio and index (where applicable) represent European averages and are based on third-party sources combined with own estimates. As such, the figures presented are intended for illustrative purposes and are purely an indication. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

3. Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating

The chart displays the portfolio's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating. This is calculated by multiplying each portfolio component's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating by its respective portfolio weight. The distribution across Sustainalytics ESG Risk levels chart shows the portfolio allocations broken into Sustainalytics' five ESG risk levels: negligible (0-10), low (10-20), medium (20-30), high (30-40) and severe (40+), providing an overview of portfolio exposure to the different ESG risk levels.

Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

4. Exclusions

The charts display the degree of adherence to exclusion applied by Robeco. Thresholds are based on revenues unless otherwise indicated. For more information about the exclusion policy and which level applies, please refer to the Exclusion Policy and Exclusion List available on Robeco.com.

Source: Robeco. We use several data input sources such as Sustainalytics, RSPO (Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil), World Bank, Freedom House, Fund for Peace and International Sanctions. Policy document available: Exclusion Policy

5. Engagement

Robeco distinguishes between three types of engagement. Value Engagement focuses on long-term issues that are financially material and/or are causing adverse sustainability impacts. The themes can be broken into Environmental, Social, Governance, or Voting-related. SDG Engagement aims to drive a clear and measurable improvement in a company's SDG contribution. Enhanced engagement is triggered by misconduct and focuses on companies severely breaching international standards. The report is based on all companies in the portfolio for which engagement activities have taken place during the past 12 months. Note that companies may be under engagement in multiple categories simultaneously. While the total portfolio exposure excludes double counting, it may not equal the sum of individual category exposures.
