Performance

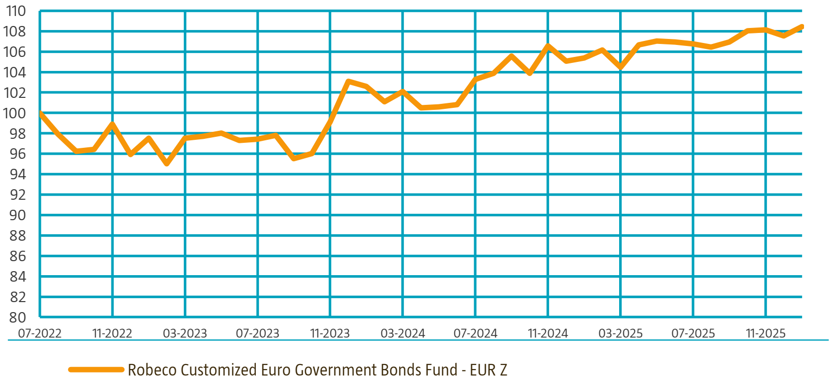
Indexed value (until 31-01-2026) - Source: Robeco



Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was 0.83%.
The fund outperformed its index in January. The main contributors to performance were yield curve positioning, country EMU and non-EMU positioning, and SSA allocation, while swap spread positioning detracted slightly. The long end of the curve steepened, as heavy supply kept pressure on long-dated bond yields. Country spreads tightened, benefiting overweight positions in countries such as Italy, Spain, Portugal and Greece, but also in Bulgaria and Hungary. SSA bond spreads over sovereigns also tightened over the month. In this segment too, new issue premiums were absent, but demand was large, causing secondary curves to tighten. Long-dated bonds underperformed versus long-dated swaps, resulting in a small negative impact on performance.

Market development

Government bond market returns were mixed over January. 10-year US Treasuries ended the month 7 basis points higher at 4.24%, while the German Bund was roughly unchanged at 2.84%. Yields in Europe responded to renewed threats of tariffs for specific countries in the Eurozone that supported Greenland. Markets calmed down somewhat after the Davos conference, where President Trump mentioned that the US would not take Greenland by force. In Japan, Prime Minister Takaichi announced snap elections, causing 30-year maturity JGB yields to spike. In response, long-end yields rose globally. Record-high supply in the Eurozone added to the sell-off in the ultra-long end. French 10-year spreads over Germany tightened as the 2026 budget seems to get passed, although without parliamentary approval. At the end of the month, President Trump announced Kevin Warsh as the candidate for the new Fed chair. The US yield curve steepened in response, as he is seen to cut interest rates somewhat, while having been critical of the use of the Fed's balance sheet in the past.

Expectation of fund manager

Despite the neutral near-term guidance from the Fed, we continue to expect at least two additional 25 bps cuts this year. However, this outlook is premised on renewed signs of labor market cooling and a more dovish FOMC composition. We see relative value in owning 2-year and 5-year Us Treasuries versus 7- to 10-year maturities as nominal and real term premiums remain compressed in longer tenors. In Europe, we believe the ECB will keep rates on hold for a while, but we see risks tilted to the downside. Although ECB President Lagarde has been sounding quite upbeat on current economic conditions recently, the recent flareup of tensions with the US over Greenland shows the vulnerabilities in Europe. With inflation around target, a further strengthening of the euro is also undesirable. Curve steepening beyond 10-years remains likely, as rising issuance meets declining (pension fund) demand for ultra-long euro duration. Peripheral bond spreads over Germany continue to converge, supported by sovereign rating upgrades in Italy, Greece, Portugal and Spain.

Sector allocation

Robeco Customized Euro Government Bonds predominantly invests in euro-denominated government and government-related bonds issued by Eurozone countries or affiliated entities. Exposure to highly rated SSA bonds amounts to approximately 11%, while around 5% of the fund is invested in emerging hard currency bonds from Bulgaria, Poland and Hungary. ESG factors are considered when assessing the fundamental credit quality of individual issuers. At the end of the month, around 19% of the fund was invested in green, social, and sustainable bonds.

Supranational	4.8%	4.8%
Agencies	4.5%	4.5%

Cash and other instruments	4.8%	4.8%

Duration allocation

During the month, the fund increased its overweight duration position, as we felt worries about a potential rate hike by the ECB in the second half of 2026 were overdone. Unrest over Greenland and the economic impact of the announced increase in tariffs on European countries led to a rally in short-dated bonds, which was used to implement a 2s5s flattener position. The fund maintains its long end curve steepeners, predominantly implemented in 10s30s; 20s30s and even 20s50s. Supply pressure will continue, while Dutch pension fund demand is diminishing. The fund maintained its long in 10-year UK Gilts, and steepener positions in the UK and in Norway. Finally, the fund has a small long in Hungary versus a short in Poland, expecting the yield differential to converge.

Rating allocation

Approximately 34% of the fund is invested in AAA-rated bonds, consisting of German and Dutch government bonds and high-quality government-related issuers such as the EU, BNG, and KfW. The fund reduced its underweight in French government bonds (A-rated), and is about 5% overweight in BBB-rated bonds, including Bulgarian, Greek, and Italian government securities.

Country allocation

The primary market in January was used to add to positions in Italy, Spain, Belgium, Greece and Portugal, while the underweight in France was reduced by subscribing to a new French sustainable agency issue. Although new deals hardly offered a new issue premium, demand was huge; books were all heavily oversubscribed, with an Italian dual-tranche issue even exceeding a quarter of a trillion euro of demand from investors. This shifted the whole secondary spread curve tighter, leading to a strong outperformance of all country spreads. Even France rallied, as markets were relieved a budget was pushed through without the fall of the government.

ESG Important information

The sustainability information in this factsheet can help investors integrate sustainability considerations in their process. This information is for informational purposes only. The reported sustainability information may not at all be used in relation to binding elements for this fund. A decision to invest should take into account all characteristics or objectives of the fund as described in the prospectus. The prospectus is available on request and free of charge on the Robeco website.

Sustainability

The fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process via exclusions, negative screening, ESG integration and minimum thresholds for the ESG score of countries as well a minimum allocation to ESG-labeled bonds. The fund complies with Robeco's exclusion policy for countries and does not invest in countries where serious violations of human rights or a collapse of the governance structure take place, or if countries are subject to UN, EU or US sanctions. In addition, the fund excludes the 15% worst ranked countries following the World Governance Indicator 'Control of Corruption'. ESG factors of countries are integrated in the bottom-up country analysis. In the portfolio construction the fund ensures a minimum weighted average score of 6.5 following Robeco's proprietary Country Sustainability Ranking. The Country Sustainability Ranking scores countries on a scale from 1 (worst) to 10 (best) based on 40 environmental, social, and governance indicators. Lastly, the fund invests in a minimum of 10% in green, social or sustainable bonds.

The portfolio's aggregate intensity figures are calculated as a weighted average by multiplying each assessed portfolio component's intensity figure with its respective position weight. Index intensities are provided alongside the portfolio intensities, highlighting the portfolio's relative carbon intensity. Only holdings mapped as sovereign bonds are included in the figures.

ESG Labeled Bonds

The ESG-labeled bond chart displays the portfolio's exposure to ESG-labeled bonds. Specifically, green bonds, social bonds, sustainability bonds, and sustainability-linked bonds. This is calculated as a sum of weights for those bonds in the portfolio that have one of above mentioned labels. Index exposure figures are provided alongside the portfolio exposure figures, highlighting the difference with the index.

Fiscal treatment of investor

For private investors residing in the Netherlands real interest and dividend income or capital gains received on their investments are not relevant for tax purposes. Participating units held by private investors who are taxpayers in the Netherlands belong in Box 3. If and insofar as an investor's net assets exceed the net wealth exemption limit, said investor is liable from 1 January to pay 1.2% annually on the balance of his or her net assets. Investors who are subject to Dutch corporate-income tax will be taxed for the result achieved on their investment in the fund. This result can consist of realized current income, and realized and unrealized capital gains. For Dutch corporate-income tax purposes, the shares or participating units must be valued at market value in the balance sheet and dividends received must be included in the taxable result. Investors who are not subject to (exempt from) Dutch corporate-income tax (e.g. pension funds) are not taxed on the achieved result. Investors residing outside the Netherlands are subject to their respective national tax regime applying to foreign investment funds. The above is based on the current fiscal legislation and regulations in the Netherlands. We advise individual investors to consult their financial or tax adviser about the tax consequences of an investment in this fund in their specific circumstances before deciding to invest in the fund.
