

Robeco QI Global Dynamic Duration IEH USD

Robeco QI Global Dynamic Duration is an actively managed fund that invests worldwide in government bonds with investment grade quality. The fund's objective is to provide long term capital growth. The fund uses derivatives to dynamically adjust the duration (interest-rate sensitivity) of the portfolio. The duration positioning is based on our proprietary duration model, which predicts the direction of the bond markets using financial market data. The ESG scores of countries are an integral part of our bottom-up country allocation decisions.

Performance

Indexed value (until 30-04-2023) - Source: Robeco

Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was 0.34%.

The fund outperformed the index in April thanks to its underweight duration position in Germany and its overweight position in Japan. The German underweight was opened at the start of April and closed in late April, partly avoiding the renewed decline in yields at the end of the month. The US overweight position that was closed in April detracted somewhat, as did the tilts in the underlying portfolio, notably the tilt to UK bonds. Year-to-date, the fund has generated a positive total return and it has outperformed the index by benefiting from lower yields in the first weeks of the year and in Japan, and by protecting against rising yields in February and in April (in Germany). All active duration positions are based on the outcomes of our quantitative duration model.

Market development

After declining on weak US data in early April, bond yields rose for most of the month as banking fears subsided, the ECB still sounded fairly hawkish and UK inflation surprised to the upside. Bonds recovered in late April as Eurozone data weakened and banking fears returned with the failure of First Republic. The Bank of Japan did not adjust its Yield Curve Control policy; it announced a broad review of its monetary policy that will take at least a year. Japanese government bonds returned 0.6% in April, US Treasuries 0.3% and German Bunds 0.03%; UK government bonds declined 1.9% (all returns hedged to euro).

Expectation of fund manager

The fund's duration policy is driven by the outcomes of our proprietary quantitative duration model. At the end of April, the model is positive for Japanese bonds, driven mainly by the inflation, valuation and monetary policy variables. The model has turned neutral on US bonds in early April and on German bonds by the end of April.

Currency policy

All currency risks are hedged.

Risk management

Risk management systems continuously monitor the extent to which the portfolio differs from the benchmark. Extreme discrepancies are prevented in this way. The duration model makes use of futures, which can lead to leverage.

Dividend policy

Dividend is distributed annually.

Derivative policy

Robeco QI Global Dynamic Duration makes use of derivatives in order to implement the duration overlay. In addition, derivatives are used to hedge the currency risks of the portfolio. These derivatives are very liquid.

Sustainability

The fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process via exclusions, ESG integration, and ESG and environmental footprint targets. The fund complies with Robeco's exclusion policy for countries and does not invest in countries where serious violations of human rights or a collapse of the governance structure take place, or if countries are subject to UN, EU or US sanctions. Via portfolio construction rules the fund targets a better ESG score and a lower carbon footprint than that of the reference index. This ensures that countries with a better ESG score or a lower carbon footprint are more likely to be included in the portfolio.

Sector allocation

The portfolio is invested in government bonds.

Sector allocation		Deviation index
Treasuries	97.3%	-2.7%
Cash and other instruments	2.7%	2.7%

Currency allocation

All positions are hedged to the base currency of the fund class. There is no active currency policy. Small temporary deviations from the benchmark may arise due to market movements.

Currency allocation		Deviation index

Euro	0.4%	0.4%
Japanese Yen	0.4%	0.4%
Australian Dollar	0.1%	0.1%
Danish Kroner	-0.1%	-0.1%
Pound Sterling	0.1%	0.1%

Duration allocation

By the end of April, the fund has an overweight duration position in Japanese bonds and neutral duration positions in Germany and the US. All active duration positions are based on the outcomes of our quantitative duration model. The underlying portfolio is tilted to long-dated Australian and British bonds, away from Canadian, German and intermediate US bonds, and to shorter-dated bonds within Japan.

Duration allocation		Deviation index
Japanese Yen	3.9	2.0
U.S. Dollar	2.8	-0.2
Euro	1.3	-0.3
Pound Sterling	0.8	0.3

Investment policy

Robeco QI Global Dynamic Duration is an actively managed fund that invests worldwide in government bonds with investment grade quality. The fund's objective is to provide long term capital growth. The fund promotes E&S (i.e. Environmental and Social) characteristics within the meaning of Article 8 of the European Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation, integrates sustainability risks in the investment process and applies Robeco's Good Governance policy. The fund applies sustainability indicators, including but not limited to, normative, activity-based and region-based exclusions. The fund uses derivatives to dynamically adjust the duration (interest-rate sensitivity) of the portfolio. The duration positioning is based on our proprietary duration model, which predicts the direction of the bond markets using financial market data. The ESG scores of countries are an integral part of our bottom-up country allocation decisions. Benchmark: JPM GBI Global Investment Grade Index (hedged into CHF). The majority of bonds selected through this approach will be components of the benchmark, but bonds outside the benchmark index may be selected too. The fund can deviate from the weightings of the benchmark. The fund aims to outperform the benchmark over the long run, whilst still controlling relative risk through the applications of limits (on currencies) to the extent of deviation from the benchmark. This will consequently limit the deviation of the performance relative to the benchmark. The Benchmark is a broad market weighted index that is not consistent with the ESG characteristics promoted by the fund.
