Key risks

- The value of shares is sensitive to market fluctuations, instrument prices, and changes in political, economic, or market conditions. This fund invests primarily in government bonds.
- The fund may use financial derivatives.
- A (derivative) counterparty may fail to fulfil its obligations. Counterparty risk is reduced by exchanging collateral.
- This fund promotes ESG characteristics, but does not have sustainable investing as its objective. Sustainability risks are integrated in the investment decisions and may impact returns.

Performance commentary
Based on closing GAV, the fund's return was -3.91%.

The fund posted a negative return during the month. Duration positioning detracted from performance, while emerging market exposure, particularly Czech rates, also weighed on returns.

Market development
Government bond returns were negative across the globe in July. 10-year US Treasuries rose 27 basis points to 4.73% while the 30-year bond reached its highest yield since 2007. The German Bund yield even rose by 35 basis points to 3.21%. Oil prices rose sharply again, driven by a renewed escalation of the US-Iran conflict, which fueled concerns about inflation and increased expectations for further monetary policy tightening. As widely anticipated, the ECB left its deposit rate unchanged at 2.25%. At the press conference, President Lagarde highlighted the near-term downside risks to growth stemming from higher energy prices, while reiterating the ECB's data-dependent approach to monetary policy. The Fed left rates unchanged at its July meeting, despite markets assigning some probability to a rate hike ahead of the decision. Peripheral Eurozone spreads widened marginally versus Bunds, as investors demanded a higher risk premium amid weaker risk sentiment and heightened geopolitical uncertainty.

Expectation of fund manager
The renewed escalation of the US-Iran conflict has led to upside risks to inflation and increased the scope for near-term monetary tightening. In the US, this raises the likelihood that the Fed will raise its policy rate later this year. A meaningful deterioration in labor market conditions, further progress on underlying inflation, or a sharp decline in oil prices would likely be required to alter this outlook. We expect the ECB to hike rates by 25 bps at their September meeting if oil prices stay at current levels. After September, our base case is for a stable depo rate at 2.5%, but that will require more stable energy prices and a continued absence of second round effects on inflation. Within European sovereign spreads, we expect further divergence across countries. French government bond spreads are likely to remain under widening pressure, as investor focus shifts toward upcoming presidential elections and fiscal developments. By contrast, Spain continues to benefit from a more favorable economic backdrop, supporting its relative performance.

Sector allocation
Around 20% of the fund is invested in green, social and sustainable bonds, predominantly in sustainable government-related agencies, German local authorities and supranational bonds.

Country / Region allocation
Country positioning of the fund is determined based on creditworthiness, liquidity, matching effectivity and ESG. We prefer Germany and the Netherlands based on matching effectivity and creditworthiness. Finland and the Netherlands score well on ESG, while Belgium and France score below average. However, Finland scores less well on liquidity.

Duration allocation
The fund's goal is to match 1.5 times the market value development of a pension annuity as purchased at retirement. The fund therefore matches 1.5 times the duration of a pension annuity. A pension annuity has a duration of approximately 11 years; the fund therefore has a duration of around 17 years.

Rating allocation
The fund predominantly invests in AAA and AA-rated countries. Only based on a positive ESG assessment, a maximum of 10% in A-rated names is allowed. The fund is mainly invested in government bonds from Germany (AAA), the Netherlands (AAA) and France (AA).

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The value of your investments may fluctuate.

Risk management
Risk management is fully integrated in the investment process to ensure that positions always meet predefined guidelines.

Fiscal product treatment
The fund is established in Luxembourg and is subject to the Luxembourg tax laws and regulations. The fund is not liable to pay any corporation, income, dividend or capital gains tax in Luxembourg. The fund is subject to an annual subscription tax ('tax d'abonnement') in Luxembourg, which amounts to 0,00% of the net asset value of the fund. This tax is included in the net asset value of the fund. The fund can in principle use the Luxembourg treaty network to partially recover any withholding tax on its income.

Dividend policy
The fund does not distribute dividend. The income earned by the fund is reflected in its share price. The fund's entire result is thus reflected in its share price development.

Registered in Netherlands

Currency policy
The portfolio holds euro-denominated investments only. No active currency policy is applied.
