Performance

The fund total return was negatively impacted by rising Treasury rates. The allocation to BB and subordinated debt contributed positively to the fund performance.

ESG integration policy

In this Fund we look for investments with a positive societal impact, whilst generating healthy financial returns. We define impact as an alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

We identify and evaluate the impact that specific credits have on the SDGs, and score all the issuers under coverage of the analysts' team. These scores categorize credits as having either a Positive, Neutral, or Negative impact on the SDGs. The scores are then used in a screening process, to define the investable universe that exclude credits with a Negative impact on the SDGs.

In addition to the universe screening, our credit analysts integrate ESG factors in their analysis of the companies fundamental credit quality to strengthen our ability to assess the downside risk of our credit investments. Furthermore the portfolio's environmental footprint is actively reduced and a part of the portfolio is allocated to greenbonds.

Expectation of fund manager

It seems obvious that the global economy will experience the strongest growth in decades in 2021. Ultra-loose monetary policy, aggressive fiscal stimulus and the unleashing of pent-up demand as the economy eventually reopens fully, are expected to pave the way for high single-digit economic growth. The Fed and the ECB have made it very clear that they will keep rates low for a long time. The Fed has signaled that it will deliberately be behind the curve, and that it will accept higher bond yields as long as these are driven by higher inflation expectations. Although it may look all signs are on green for credit markets, we have become more cautious on credit markets. Credit markets have priced in most of the positive news. Many parts of the market are trading close to historical tight spread levels. While it is possible that credits could keep rallying, the margin for error is extremely limited. There is still some value in BB credit and emerging market debt, but we are more cautious on investment grade, corporate hybrids and banks COCO debt.

Sector allocation

The fund invests in investment grade credit, high yield and emerging markets. Based on the most recent quarterly outlook we continued to reduce risk exposure in March. This was mostly accomplished by selling holdings in corporate hybrids and bank COCO. The fund continues to have a position in short dated Treasuries which could be used to invest in credits in a potential market sell off. Investment Grade credit trades at historical tight levels. Corporate high yield and emerging debt still offer some value. Within the different sectors we continue to favor financials. Within the financial sector we prefer tier-2 debt at the moment as this has better risk/return characteristics than COCO debt at the moment.

Currency denomination allocation

The fund holds around 57% in USD denominated bonds, 39% EUR denominated bonds and 5% in GBP denominated bonds. The currency exposure is hedged back to the US dollar, the fund's base currency.

Duration allocation

The portfolio interest rate duration is around 3.2 years.

Rating allocation

The majority of the fund is invested in the BBB-BB space. At the moment we view BB rated credits as more attractively priced than investment grade credits.
