Performance commentary
Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -5.45%.

The portfolio outperformed the benchmark by 0.40% in October. Country allocation was the primary headwind, driven by our underweight in Taiwan and overweight in South Korea. While both markets were in a technical correction with a deepening global AI sell-off, South Korea fell 7% more than Taiwan. China was a positive contributor to allocation, with national team ETF buying providing support after the CSI 300 entered bear market territory. Stock selection, on the other hand, was positive.

Market development
Asia-Pacific equities fell sharply in October, as higher global bond yields caught up with equity and credit markets. The MSCI Asia ex Japan fell 8.2%. Confidence in the AI trade weakened as investors questioned financing sustainability and negative free cash flow at the hosting layer. Oil prices and geopolitical risks added pressure. Leadership rotated from IT and industrials toward healthcare and staples, and from growth and momentum toward value and low volatility. North Asia bore the brunt: South Korea fell by 15.4%, Taiwan by 8.3% and China was down 7.0%, accompanied by substantial foreign selling in South Korea and Taiwan. India gained 1.4%, supported by its lower AI exposure. Despite market weakness, earnings estimates continued to rise in South Korea and Taiwan. South Korea remains the region's cheapest market and offers exceptional near-term earnings growth, although the sharp slowdown forecast for 2028 reinforces the need for disciplined stock selection. Earnings outside of IT also continued to be a bright spot.

Expectation of fund manager
The Asian investment backdrop remains constructive, but market leadership has been unusually narrow. AI capital expenditure continues to support earnings expectations across South Korea, Taiwan and Japan, but concerns that earnings are not sustainable has hit valuations hard (in Asia). We are underweight in IT and prefer to focus on the alpha opportunity rather than beta in the AI sector. The portfolio continues to monitor crowding, valuation and the sustainability of hyperscaler spending. On the positive side, we are starting to see a change in leadership at both the country and sector level that is being supported by improving earnings in those sectors.

Top 10 largest holdings
The top three holdings reflect significant IT exposure: TSMC remains a critical enabler of the energy transition as a top-tier chip manufacturer; Samsung Electronics (preferred) benefits from strong HBM developments and robust semiconductor demand; and SK hynix leads in high-bandwidth memory, a key AI build-out component commanding strong pricing power. MediaTek's capital-light model funds substantial R&D and rapid diversification into AI, automotive and data center markets. Samsung Life is a leading South Korean insurer benefiting from rising interest rates and improving investment yields. SK Square offers leveraged exposure to SK hynix, alongside a clear shareholder return commitment. Chroma ATE is a precision test and measurement specialist serving the semiconductor and EV industries with strong recurring revenues. Midea is a technology-driven compounder with strong cash generation. State Bank of India benefits from robust loan growth and improving asset quality. Ping An Insurance is a diversified financial platform with significant exposure to China's growing insurance and wealth management markets.

Sector allocation
The portfolio enters November underweight in information technology, which is 47% of the benchmark, as we remain selective and avoid high-priced stocks. Financials and consumer staples are overweights, benefiting from Asia's financial inclusion trends, rising wealth and robust structural growth. Utilities and real estate overweights reflect attractive valuations and compelling energy transition opportunities. Materials and energy remain underweight on sustainability grounds.

Country / Region allocation
Our portfolio's country exposure arises from a bottom-up approach to stock selection. South Korea is the fund's largest overweight, offering compelling exposure to AI picks-and-shovels themes at attractive valuations, supported by the administration's ongoing value-up policy reforms. Hong Kong and China are significant overweights; following a period of underperformance, valuations have moderated considerably, and we are finding attractive opportunities across consumer, financial and infrastructure sectors with strong free cash flow generation. Within ASEAN, Indonesia, Vietnam and the Philippines are overweight on favorable long-term demographic tailwinds at attractive valuations. Singapore and Malaysia are underweight, held back by relatively stretched valuations and limited near-term earnings catalysts. Taiwan is the largest underweight, acting as a hedge against AI and IT exposure elsewhere in the portfolio. India remains underweight on valuation grounds, though we continue adding selectively on stock-specific opportunities.

Reference

1. SDG Impact Alignment
This distribution across SDG scores shows the portfolio weight allocated to companies with a positive, negative and neutral impact alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) based on Robeco's SDG Framework. The framework utilizes a three-step approach to assess a company's impact alignment with the relevant SDGs and assign a total SDG score. The score ranges from positive to negative impact alignment with levels from high, medium or low impact alignment. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

2. Environmental Footprint
Environmental footprint expresses the total resource consumption of the portfolio per mUSD invested. Each assessed company's footprint is calculated by normalizing resources consumed by the company's enterprise value including cash (EVIC). We aggregate these figures to portfolio level using a weighted average, multiplying each assessed portfolio constituent's footprint by its respective position weight. The equivalent factors that are used for comparison between the portfolio and index (where applicable) represent European averages and are based on third-party sources combined with own estimates. As such, the figures presented are intended for illustrative purposes and are purely an indication. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

3. Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating
The chart displays the portfolio's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating. This is calculated by multiplying each portfolio component's Sustainalytics ESG Risk Rating by its respective portfolio weight. The distribution across Sustainalytics ESG Risk levels chart shows the portfolio allocations broken into Sustainalytics' five ESG risk levels: negligible (0-10), low (10-20), medium (20-30), high (30-40) and severe (40+), providing an overview of portfolio exposure to the different ESG risk levels. Only holdings mapped as corporates are included in the figures.

4. Exclusions
The charts display the degree of adherence to exclusion applied by Robeco. Thresholds are based on revenues unless otherwise indicated. For more information about the exclusion policy and which level applies, please refer to the Exclusion Policy and Exclusion List available on Robeco.com.

5. Engagement
Robeco distinguishes between three types of engagement.
Value Engagement focuses on long-term issues that are financially material and/or are causing adverse sustainability impacts. The themes can be broken into Environmental, Social, Governance, or Voting-related. SDG Engagement aims to drive a clear and measurable improvement in a company's SDG contribution. Enhanced engagement is triggered by misconduct and focuses on companies severely breaching internationals standards. The report is based on all companies in the portfolio for which engagement activities have taken place during the past 12 months. Note that companies may be under engagement in multiple categories simultaneously. While the total portfolio exposure excludes double counting, it may not equal the sum of individual category exposures.
